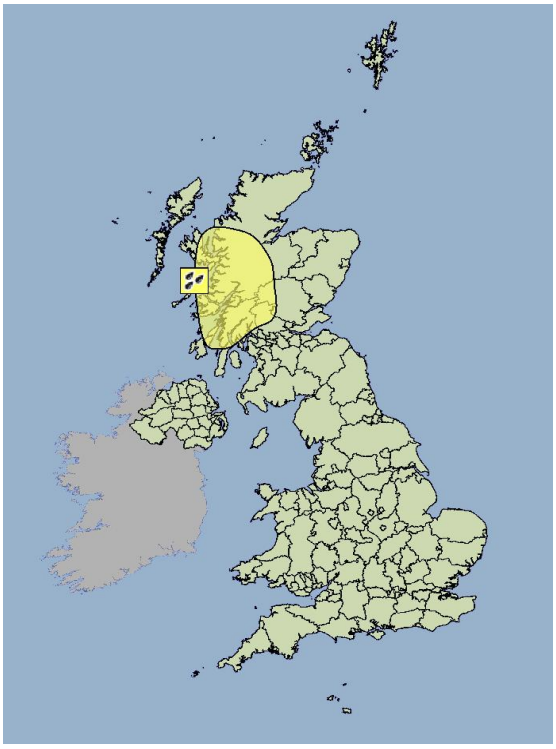
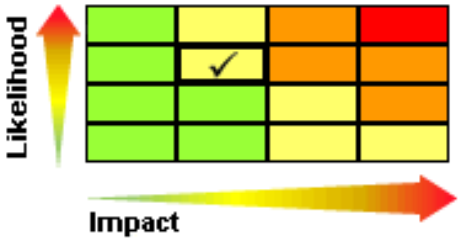
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Rain will be heavy and persistent at times over western parts of Scotland during Sunday, easing from the north overnight into Christmas Day. The highest rainfall totals are expected to build up over high ground with 70 to 100 mm possible in some places.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 00:05 on Sun, 24th Dec 2017 until 23:55 on Sun, 24th Dec 2017

Heavy rain will affect western parts of Scotland at times during Saturday night and Sunday.

Spray and flooding on roads will probably make journey times longer. This will probably also cause delays to bus and train services. There is a chance that a few homes and businesses could be flooded.

This warning has been updated to extend it further east.
